2022 Taiwan Ceramics Biennale

2022 Taiwan Ceramics Biennale has inaugurated on the 3rd floor of the Yingge Ceramics Museum! This year, not only will we showcase the works of both local and foreign artists, but also have the participation from several renowned international cultural institutions, such as the Modern Museum of Ceramic Art, Gifu in Japan, the Clayarch Gimhae Museum in South Korea, the Eretz Israel Museum, Tel Aviv in Israel and the European Ceramic Work Centre in the Netherlands. We want you to join us and embark on this diverse and creative journey!

Tangible World: The New Social Dynamics in Ceramics

The Taiwan Ceramic Biennale is one of the four main ceramic biennales around the world. This year we focus on the topic, Tangible World: The New Social Dynamics in Ceramics, covering the themes of “Tracing: The Ceramic Journey,” “Amorphous: Interpretation of Nature,” “Metamorphosis: Material Philosophy” and “Taking Shape: Connections in the World.” This exhibition includes 72 prices of high-quality artworks, produced by 47 superb artists from 12 countries.

Following the four different themes, we will understand how the contemporary ceramicists draw their creative inspiration from history, culture, nature, materials, media and the environment in which they work. Altogether they contribute to the unique expression of contemporary ceramics, bringing a new perspective to our surroundings. The artists’ departure from tradition, in both artistic expression and exhibition, will open to new possibilities for young ceramicists, encouraging them to explore and experiment.

Masterpieces debut in Taiwan

For the first time, the worldly renowned Korean Onggi master Kang-Hyo Lee’s work have arrived in Taiwan.

Ming-Shun Cho, who claimed the gold medal from the Korean International Ceramic Biennale 2021, is a ceramicist from Yingge. For our biennale, Cho has specially created the Mutualism series. The work, which comprises a series connecting human figures and accessories, captures the human desire to make connections without being overly intimate. Cho’s message is that we should be both inclusive while being respectful of everyone’s individuality. It is a telling message in a post-COVID world, when we are mentally and physically distant from one another.

tribute to our invaluable nature, featuring four delightful multicolored horses stand upright under clouds, hence the feast they are about to receive from another Nature. Toshiya Masuda’s “computerized graphics” is an attempt to emulate the rhythm and physical structure of ceramics through image, creating a unique Lego-like texture for the works. As part of the exhibition, we borrowed Sung-Wook Park’s Ring around the Moon from the Clayarch Gimhae Museum. The work captures the trajectory of time through interlacing series of old ceramic debris. Hiroshi Sakai’s Vase, Indigo Shino, which was lent from the Modern Museum of Ceramic Art, Gifu, is inspired by the traditional Mino ware. The work, consisting of elegant blue glaze and clear lines, dazzles us with its modern style.

In this year’s biennale, artists from all over the world communicate with their passion and creativity. Altogether they leave a memorable record for the field of contemporary ceramics.

Editor's Choice

2022 New Taipei City Arts Exhibition

The exhibition is one of the most prestigious competition in Taiwan. We have up to ten categories of practice, this includes oil painting, watercolor paintings, block printing, photography, techno art, ink painting, calligraphy, seal engraving, nihonga and sculpture. For the past 34 years, we would have 5 categories for open call each year, taking turns to make sure we cover all 10 categories in 2 years. In recent years, we have lifted the restrictions on region, nationality and scale for submissions. This approach allows for further experiment and innovation to occur, reflecting the New Taipei City’s motto of inclusivity, creativity and innovation. This year, our submission categories are oil

The Legendary Garden with 5G Network: A Lighting Exhibition

For the past three years, the Lin Family Mansion and Garden have been brightened by its signatory light shows. Currently, the national-listed heritage site is undergoing restoration work. As such, we relocate the light show at the square near the gate and the historic garden walls at Ximen Street. With our lighting techniques, we will turn these spaces into “Passage of Light,” hence the theater for our 2022 light show. This year, Contemporary Legend Theatre brings to us The Goddess, a theatrical spectacle directed and performed by the artistic director Hsin-kuo Wu and executive director Hsiu-wei Lin. The opera will also be broadcasted live at the Garden’s Dingjingtang and Banqiao Broadcasting Station via the 5G network. No matter where you are, you will be immersed in the new aesthetics of the Lin’s Mansion and Garden. From November 05, between 7 to 9 pm each night, we will turn the “Passage of Light” outside the Garden into part of a dazzling natural scenery, transforming the nondescript urban landscape of Ximen Street into an illuminatingly colorful world. During the program period, we will organize a number of pop-up events at the Dingjingtang, making your light show experience all the merrier! This year, our light show incorporates performing arts with technology, complementing both the urban environment and historic landscape. We transform the traditional garden space into a theater for contemporary performing arts, continue to celebrate the Banqiao, Fuzhong area as our modern arts headquarter.
